

Nice, sunny, calm sea and a light breeze. A wonderful day.

Logbook Day 02 – Novigrad to Pula

Transited over to the customs dock, visiting the harbour master for a renewal of the Croatia sailing permit (~50 Euro / year). All done and set, just another stop at the local super market for some fresh fruits and a salad for the evening.

Had some hick-up with the autopilot, as it lost its settings and needed re-calibration. Seems to work now.

Cruising down the Istrien coast. Not too many boats, nice coastline. Seeing spots I visited in the past years.

Dolphin spotting on the way. Just after Novigrad and right at the Limski Chanal near Rovinj.

About 10 miles before Pula the wind dropped to zero. Some 2-3- hours of motoring ahead. Found a anchoring spot in a bay at east side of the Kamenjak protected park.

11h sailing, 44 nm

Wind 0-12 kn, E
